MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Training

25 YEAR RE-REVIEW

SUBJECT: Weekly Report #15: Defense Intelligence School (DIS)
21 June - 25 June 1965

1. The Civilian Analyst Course opens today at DIS. The first week's schedule is attached; from the second through the fifth week, the CAC students will follow the Strategic Intelligence Course program, with minor modifications. We have been told that 24 of the students listed on the tentative roster, also attached, will be in attendance. It is expected that two late entries will be admitted but that other late starters will be held over in DIA until the January class.

2. Students in the Iron Curtain/Restricted Country seminar group of the Attaché class will undertake a worthwhile exercise at Ft. Myer today. Husband-wife teams are seeking information, but participants are unaware that [redacted]

3. [redacted] plans to join the DIS group at Colorado Springs for the 6-15 July period. He will leave after greeting the incoming SIC class. [redacted] called me on several matters from Colorado College. Flooding was so severe around Denver that trains couldn't get in; Bob mentioned that he had to travel from Cheyenne to Denver via bus, so as to reach Colorado Springs.

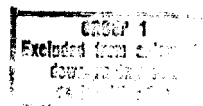

4. On Tuesday, June 29, the Attaché class will have a half-day program in the Headquarters Auditorium, and lunch thereafter. Indicative of the problem of tailoring Attaché instruction for special cases: The class now totals 50, down from a peak of 77.

5. [redacted] seemed quite pleased with his "take" from various DIS sources. Jack visited the school a week ago on a data-gathering mission in connection with his Princeton project.

6. I've had sessions at 1000 Glebe in the reporting week with [redacted], as well as inquiries from [redacted] from time to time.

7. Present DIS strength is 97 allowed, 92 on board. The JCS manpower team has concluded its survey and seems to be recommending a total of 100, plus five enlisted guards for night security. The DIA Comptroller team, anticipating increased responsibilities for DIS, came up with a recommended strength of 120 plus. One course the latter team wanted was a "DIA Indoctrination." Unknown even to the Registrar, the DIC course chairman has given such a course in the past and will do so again next week. The 21-hour program is attached.
